Q5: What did Vision Internet do well?

Dwight Millner was the project manager and I thought he went above and beyond to assist me with the final pieces before launching. We have limited staff and instead of each department updating their pages etc I was alone doing all updates. We migrated over all our old pages and then I weeded through it. Dwight helped me tremendously when it came close to launch and I still needed some items completed. He walked me through them and made it possible to launch.
